ABOUT THE RESURRECTION PROJECT

Celebrating its 30th year, The Resurrection Project (TRP) has become a powerful and effective social enterprise that provides affordable housing, financial education, and immigration legal services while it organizes individuals in advocating for systems change that benefit all people. Participants can leverage TRP's innovative three-pillar Community Resurrection Model to access a range of services that address their housing, health, legal immigration, and financial needs, while becoming civically engaged leaders in their community.

In 1990, TRP began with an initial seed capital of $30,000 from area parishes, which TRP has since leveraged into $585 million in community investment.

OUR MISSION

To build relationships and challenge people to act on their faith and values by creating community ownership, by building community wealth, and by serving as stewards of community assets.

OUR VISION 2020 AND IMAGINE MORE

Vision 2020 is a strategic initiative and catalyst designed to create greater impact in five years than in TRP's first 25, transforming high-potential under-resourced neighborhoods into communities of promise.

The Imagine More Campaign provides the financial resources needed for the organization to experience targeted, accelerated growth through its core strategies and initiatives.

WHERE WE OPERATE AND WHY

While TRP serves individuals and families from all over the metropolitan Chicago region, efforts are focused on Chicago's Southwest Side in the mostly first- and second-generation Mexican neighborhoods of Pilsen, Little Village, and Back of the Yards, plus suburban Cicero and Melrose Park. Most TRP program participants come from low- to moderate-income households, and 88% are Latino. Households served by TRP face language, cultural, economic, and educational barriers; TRP provides the support and education to help families thrive. Through TRP, families gain increased capacity to reach their goals and improve their socio-economic status. TRP promotes stability and mobility for the families we serve.
